Student Comments:

- Didn't read textbook
- I did all the homework, sometimes read the articles.
- This course was very engaging and keeping up with my assignments was crucial for my understanding of the material.
- I completed all assignments including readings, homework quizzes, and notes.
- Finished everything the class had to offer.
- very engaging teacher
- Assignments were well communicated ahead of time, and very understandable.
- I completed 100 percent of the assignments
- To be honest, I often opened the pre-class article before class but didn't always finish reading it.
- Great assignments and sources to go back on for exams.
- Online modules

Student Comments:

- Very clear.
- syllabus was set up well
- Based on what Professor Hwang communicated and what was outlined on the syllabus I understood exactly what was expected of me and how to attain success in this course
- Syllabus was very clear and was stuck to.
- Instructor had a very organized and detailed syllabus and had very good communication with students about what was required and expected.
- I really wish I knew if I got attendance edit credit and extra credit. Knowing this would make me walk into the final with less anxiety.
- The syllabus was very clear and gave a thorough outline of the class
- All the instructions were very clear.
- I entered the class late and I never found the rubric in canva.
- Syllabus was clear and helped me throughout the entire semester.

Student Comments:

- At least slightly
- very informative class
- Professor Hwang's teaching style not only helped me understand these concepts for the exams but how to make the connection between the classroom and real-life aka what is really happening in the economy
- This course was very informative and helped me understand and connect with events that are currently happening in the world.
- Only say this because this course is just difficult for me, I don't think it is at all because of Professor Hwang.
- I wish the lectures were slightly more engaging, not to offend but sometimes they got kind of boring
- Lecture could have been more engaging.
- Lectures were often repetitive, but the information was conceptual to understand.
- course was intuitive, the ways in which you taught it seemed applicable to real life examples, I can appreciate that if I wasn't able to fully grasp a section.
- This course taught me a ton of key concepts about the macro economy as is a great intro class covering many topics.
- I was able to learn a lot from the lectures and the textbook.

Student Comments:

- Not much in my opinion
- Every class and on every homework assignment I engaged in critical thinking and problem solving in order to understand course concepts and complete practice problems
- Critical thinking was very helpful when talking about economics fiscal policy.
- Critical thinking was crucial to applying my knowledge from lecture to exams and developing my understanding.
- The homework helped me do this.
- I enjoyed the professor and thought he was engaging to learn from, but just learning from slides every lecture was tedious sometimes.
- The lectures were often conceptual with little opportunity to problem solve.
- I feel like I could've engaged more if we had more opportunities to directly participate in class. No fault of the professor big classes usually discourage this.
- Had me drawing graphs in front of me during the test like I was seeing things

Student Comments:

- Very clear.
- Super navigable.
- The syllabus clearly laid out the schedule and the class stuck to it almost exactly.
- Easily found powerpoints for each module
- My only comment regarding this course is that sometimes the homework questions did not align with what was discussed in lecture or in the textbook. This made it difficult to understand the homework question since our resources did not cover that material.
- Everything easy to find on canvas
- Extremely organized and I always knew what I needed to complete by what time
- The Canvas and syllabus were very easy to navigate.

Student Comments:

- I didn't seek out feedback, but responses in lectures helped me understand where I was at following exams, etc.
- I feel like instructor Hwang would purposely drag the content so the class would be an hour long, which I found unnecessary. I understand you use the extra time to explain the content; however, half of the content is redundant, so it just becomes repetitive. I believe this class would benefit more if it were M-W-F.
- My professor was extremely helpful during office hours, and he even stayed over the posted time to assist me.
- I've gone up to Professor Hwang to ask some questions after class pretty often and he always will stay with me and help explain any thing I'm confused about.
- This guy os the goat of teachers he is super relatable and is just a super chill.
- In-class and the TA's reviews sessions before each exam were very helpful.
- There was not much feedback
- Feedback was available but I did not partake.
- I wish we could've been given our paper tests after each exam so that we could study what we got wrong after.
- Help sessions would be great in a course like this.
- Feedback on weekly homework helped to get a better grade on the second attempt for one assignment.
- Not much feedback in this class, though I didn't seek it out directly either.

- Feedback was vague or not included. There was little assignments or opportunity to receive feedback, though.

A word cloud visualization of survey feedback. The words are arranged in a horizontal, somewhat circular pattern. The word 'class' is the largest and most central. Other prominent words include 'content' and 'feedback'. Smaller words include 'professor', 'explain', 'understand', 'seek', 'time', 'hwang', 'helped', 'super', 'sessions', 'each', 'exam', 'much', and 'though'.

Student Comments:

- You're doing amazing !!!
- Great teacher, deserves raise. Very cheerful and happy. Energetic.
- Best professor I've had!
- Professor Hwang is one of the best professors I have had at Texas A&M; in class he explains concepts in a way that we can all understand by breaking them down and then helping us understand how to apply those to real life scenarios. He also frequently encouraged participation despite the large lecture size and made us feel comfortable to engage in discourse with him during lecture.
- Professor Hwang is great about making sure his students have everything they need.
- Professor Hwang taught me so much in this class, and for the first time, I was actually interested in economics. The way he organized the class was amazing, and I was never confused about what was expected of me. He is an amazing professor who really cares about what he teaches and is such a joy to listen to. He is so genuine, understanding, and inclusive, and is definitely my favorite professor I have ever had. I learned so much in this class, and also how I can apply economics to my real life, not just tests.
- The lectures were borderline impossible to pay attention to and not at all engaging.
- He was very organized and helpful
- The instructor was very welcoming and fostered a comfortable learning environment. He is very knowledgeable and always willing to stay after class to answer questions and provide feedback.

- I think the frequent pauses for questions were helpful because they ensured that we understood the new concepts before moving on.
- Again like I said, sometimes I wish lectures were slightly more engaging
- Mr. Hwang was very friendly and helped when I was having issues with my va benefits.
- Professor Hwang created a great environment with his thorough lectures and his very well prepared slides. It was very clear he both cared about what he was teaching and about our learning and understanding of it.
- This teacher was great at explaining each concepts, always had a great learning environment.
- My professor was easy to follow and made concepts easy to learn
- Professor Hwang taught the concepts really well and made lecture entertaining by giving good examples and occasionally cracking a joke.
- GOATTTTTTT I love this guy.

Student Comments:

- His lectures were great and helped me understand difficult topics much better
- His teaching was great, but some of the lessons felt kind of fast paced with time leftover at the end of class that could have been utilized to take the lesson slower.
- Economics as a whole has always been a struggle for me to understand but Professor Hwang taught the material effectively and has helped me a lot. He is one the nicest professors I've ever had. He is very humble and always is kind to me and other classmates. I would definitely take him again if I could.
- Professor Hwang's teaching style and how he made himself available to answer questions outside of class definitely contributed to my ability to learn the course material. Overall, I really enjoyed having him as a professor and think that my learning experience at Texas A&M would be enhanced if I continue to have professors just like him :)
- This instructor was very passionate about the subject that he was teaching, he was always very engaging. He explained topics in a way that provided insight on how to retain and utilize the information.
- The only thing I would say is that I would have liked to have a test review or study guide that was similar to the test. I believe that if I had this, I would have performed better in the class.
- Mr. Hwang teaching methods greatly helped me learn, especially his availability.
- Lecture were almost directly from the slides. Not a bad thing but left most learning up to students.
- It can be hard sometimes to focus on the lectures when there isn't a lot of variety in presenting the information, but I understand that it is hard to do new activities with a large class.
- I think some of the lectures were slow and a little robotic at times. However, I think if you lean into your own personality and teaching style, you'll do better already!

- Maybe a little more organized on info, felt like if I didn't understand the information right away I would fall behind or be lost.
- Best teacher ever! I have never had a professor so understanding of everyone and also who taught so well. Every lesson was clear and concise, but gave enough detail to easily grasp the concepts for the test.
- Great professor. Unfortunately burdened by a class who failed to really interact with his teaching. Super awesome guy and will do great wherever he goes.

Student Comments:

- Yes he did.
- He encouraged us to look into further details on chapters to ensure we fully understood the concepts.
- Although Mr. Hwang acts as a solid backstop for students when they can't figure out answers themselves, he does push students to seek answers for their questions.
- Professor Hwang provided many resources for students to learn and grow.
- This professor is the best professor I have had in College so far. He is so helpful for us and always has a smile on his face. He is willing to help.
- There was opportunity to read the textbook, however, most of the course was in class.
- All the time! Made this class awesome, and although I'm not great at it, he makes it enjoyable to be there.
- He definitely encouraged us to take responsibility for our own learning by encouraging us to take our time on the homework assignments to really understand the concepts, read the textbook on our own time and also complete practice exams and attend test review sessions.
- He would often encourage us to access the textbook to learn more but taught us all the key information in class.
- Encouraged us to read the textbook, etc. to have a better understanding of the material.
- Dr. Hwang is awesome. This was my first Econ class I took at A&M and am super glad I chose this to be my minor. I am excited for what future economic classes will look like and Dr. Hwang is a reason for that. I hope Texas A&M can get him back one day as a full professor or something because he is awesome and always can help people learn more about economics.
